REFUSE WRIT OF ERROR IN CASE OF J. B. STOUT

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 18.—J. B. Stout of Augusta county, who last month shot and killed Joseph Quinn following a dispute over a fight between dogs, will have to serve the rest of his days in the penitentiary. The Supreme Court of Appeals has refused to grant a writ of error in the case. The men were friends and were pulling up a fence when the fight between dogs started and the following day Quinn asked Stout if he was ready to retract the language of the day preceding, and after a few words the shooting followed.

Kentucky Lady Tell How She Became Strong and Healthy—Recommends Cardui to Weak Women

Mount Vernon, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Vanhook, formerly of Stanford, but now residing here, says that after her third child was born, she undertook to resume her household too soon, and this caused in a great deal of trouble. "I began to feel weak, and all played out—no, I felt it all," as Mrs. Vanhook describes her condition. "For about six weeks I was just a nervous wreck. I had to have some one do all my house work. My doctor told me my impudence had caused this, and he was to use a tonic to build up my strength. He recommended Cardui. Very soon I saw an improvement in my condition. I used three bottles of Cardui and my health was restored. I am a strong, healthy woman." This Kentucky lady adds that she never fails to recommend Cardui to weak and run-down lady friends. Thousands of women praise Cardui to their friends. This mild, harmless, vegetable tonic medicine has been in successful use for over forty years in the treatment of many common ailments suffered by women. Your druggist sells Cardui. DRY OFFICERS AND MOONSHINERS EXCHANGE SHOTS

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 18.—Prohibition officers had a fight with negro moonshiners in Brunswick county yesterday in which many shots were fired at the retreating men, some of which took effect. The officers found a 200-gallon still several thousand feet from a large house and a complete outfit in every particular. The men from the house in which they were hiding and disappeared in the woods. This gang of moonshiners has been giving trouble for months and the officers are after them strong. They are bold and defiant.

CHATHAM NEWS NOTES

CHATHAM, Nov. 18.—More than two million pounds of tobacco have been received by the Co-ops and the receipts in the month of November will considerably exceed the month of October. A good season for handling will greatly increase receipts, but during the present month very little rain has fallen, and only farmers provided with ordering pits have been able to do very much strapping. Prices are remaining firm and farmers are pleased.

The regular November term of the Pittsylvania county circuit court will begin Monday with a large criminal docket which will take up several days in trial. The trial of the Bow-ell Brothers, Duncan, Easley and Taylor charged with being connected with the murder of last May of Steward Boward will come up for trial at this time.

The devotees of bridge were delightedly entertained by Mrs. L. Carter at her home on North Main street Friday afternoon and at the same time on Friday evening the North End Book club were given a most delightful time. Both games and much enjoyed by all present and at the close refreshments were served.

Mrs. T. L. Whitehead returned this week from visiting in Richmond.

Rev. and Mrs. R. G. McLea left this week for southern Georgia where Mr. McLea will be several days engaged in a series of meetings.

Carl Hall and Arthur Abbott, two young men employed in the shop of the Crockett Auto Company were on Thursday very painfully burned. Both were working very near a gasoline torch when in some way the cut off valve refused to work allowing a stream of gasoline to escape which ignited immediately and the falling liquid on the young men was immediately a seething flame. Quick work on part of fellow workers very soon had the flames extinguished but several suffered painful burns. Both young men were given medical attention and while their burns are very painful they were reported on yesterday doing well as conditions would allow.

Miss Kate Minter, of Sandy River a guest of her sister Mrs. J. J. Patterson.

The south Side Book club were delightfully entertained by Mrs. J. E. Hart at the home of Mr. Frank Marshall on Thursday night. Eight tables were in play and the evening one of much pleasure ending with the serving of a delicious salad course.

Mrs. Frank Marshall left on Friday to visit her son Prof. A. R. Marshall at Stone Creek and son Frank Marshall now a student at Lynchburg College.

FAGS GO LIKE HOTCAKES IN HOTEL TILL BAN IS PLACED

By NIA Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Selling cigarettes and smokers' supplies in a hotel patronized exclusively by women is a highly profitable business. That's why the exclusively feminine Grace Dodge Hotel here "banned" and operated by the Y. W. C. A. is involved in a suit with Andrew G. Pollock, proprietor of his hotel here.

It all started when the national board of the Y. W. C. A., headed by Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., placed a ban on the sale of cigarettes and tobacco at the hotel.

"Apparently the publicity given to the sale of cigarettes and the facilities provided for comfort of women smokers at the hotel brought too much criticism from the conservative wing of the Y. W. C. A.," says Pollock.

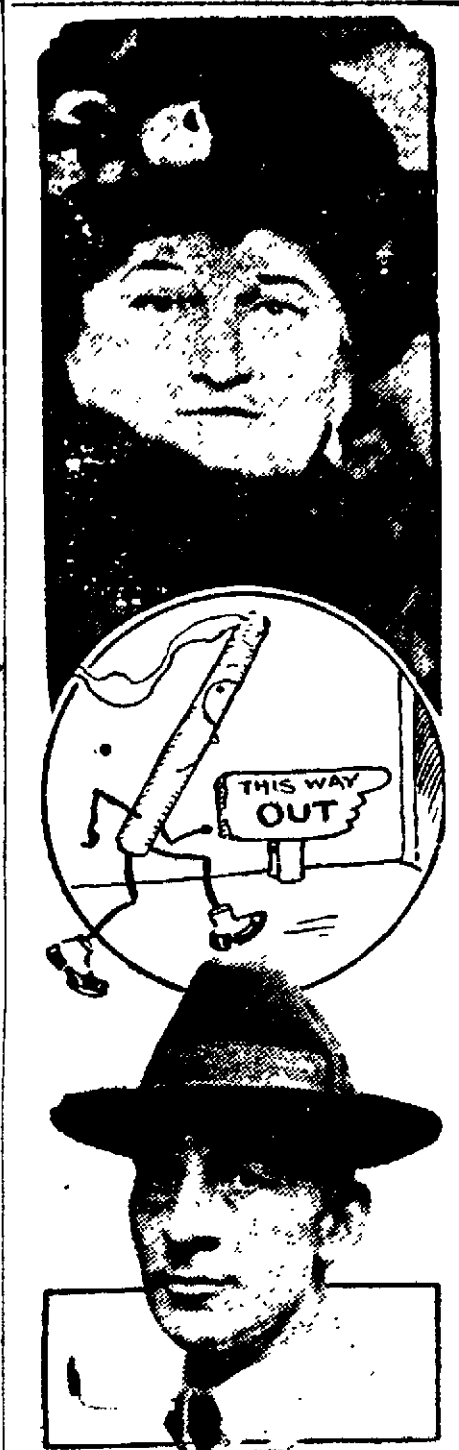

"Anyway, a few months after the hotel was opened the management asked me to cease displaying smokers' articles. There was at that time no question as to my selling them for that was provided for in my contract.

His hope of making profits from the sale of cigarettes was the controlling factor in his bidding for the news stand privilege, Pollock sets forth in his suit. And up to the time of the ban, his profits were even greater than he expected, he adds.

Meanwhile Mrs. Rockefeller has announced that no more hotels for women will be undertaken by the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. This one, she said recently has given the board trouble enough.

This cigarette business alone, it is feared, may raise a greater stench in the organization than can be aired out in months.

Before it is finally decided, the Y. W. C. A. may have to come out definitely one way or another on the issue of women smoking.

MRS. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., AND ANDREW G. POLLOCK.

DR. W. C. JACKSON TALKS TO CLUB

The ability to survive physically and economically, to meet the test of intellect and integrity, and to develop culture have been pointed out as necessary to a race, if that race would prove itself worthy of civilization. This was an idea expressed by Dr. W. C. Jackson of the History Department of the North Carolina College for Women, of Greensboro, North Carolina, when he spoke at the history lecture given by Fitzgerald on Thursday afternoon, before the Shakespeare Study Club and a number of the club's guests. Miss Fitzgerald and Mrs. George Geoghegan, Jr., who were hostesses for the afternoon, were assisted in receiving by Miss Fitzgerald's guest, Miss Mary Belle Conway.

"The Negro in Art and Literature" was the subject named when the club president, Mrs. Richard Carter, introduced the speaker. Dr. Jackson introduced the theme to the American phase, thereby excluding from the discussion the well-known names of Alexander Dumas, Pushkin, Coleridge Taylor and Rene Maran. Furthermore, he brought no pet schemes for dealing with the negro problem, but presented his subject from the standpoint of the historian. He gave facts, collected from time to time, and arranged these in a manner to hold attention. He quoted from negro writers and from white writers, but chiefly he gave his attention to that informal discussion that left the listener free to form his own conclusions.

In introducing his subject the historian quoted Sherwood Eddy, who said that there were three things to determine the thinking of men—nationalism, economic conditions and race. In the world of men, according to Eddy, "Race is set against race." The speaker referred to Stoddard's startling book, "The Rising Tide of Color," and said that the writer presented race as the basic factor of human affairs. W. E. B. Dubois, the negro leader among his people, had, in the opinion of the college professor, a similar view, and was attempting to lead his people to great activity as a race.

The speaker felt that facts needed consideration, and the aforementioned, combined with the increase of negro population from nineteen persons in 1620 to twelve million, now one-tenth of the population of the United States, furnished food for reflection. Difference in color, in mental and moral status, in social condition, in political ideal, the fact that, as a race, they have dominated the political thought of the South for years, the fact that the South has practically asked that the South be allowed to solve the problem connected with this race, the fact that there is evidence that other sections show some disposition to do this—all these circumstances, said the speaker, demanded our consideration. In looking into the matter, Dr. Jackson advised that certain principles be kept in mind.

"We must," he asserted, "not drift, we must be constructive, we must be informed, and we must be just."

Dr. Jackson has lived in South Carolina and in Georgia practically all his life and he calmly asserted: "We do not know the negro. We know the negro presented in Thomas Nelson Page and in George Washington Cable, but the product of 1926 we do not know."

"We must be just not alone for the sake of the negro, but for our own sake. We must be dispassionate and without prejudice."

In this manner he would have his hearers think of the work that has been done in art and in literature by the negro. He divided each phase of the subject and pointed out several examples of each division. First, however, giving Dixon's definition of the negro and then, that given by the United States census. He did this because a number of those cited were not known by the world at large to be negroes.

The historian wishing to test the literature and art of the race under discussion, at this point gave the requirements of a race by civilization and followed this with a quotation from the negro leader, James Weldon Johnson, in order to show the views expressed by his people and to any who read his words.

"A people may become great through many means, but there is only one measure by which its greatness is recognized and acknowledged. The final measure of the greatness of all peoples is the amount and stand-of the literature and art they have produced. The world does not know that a people is great until that people produces great literature and art. No people that has produced great literature and art has ever been looked upon by the world as distinctly inferior."

Greatest of the arts among the negroes is music, according to Dr. Brander Matthews, and Dr. Jackson seemed to share this view. Jazz, rag-time and the spirituals have been distinctively negro creations. Even whether or not the first two are artistic, Brander claims, for his race, distinction in art and influence is aesthetic.

In music, Dr. Jackson presented Blind Tom as an exception. His music was imitative, but the musician was almost an imbecile, said he. Others, however, there were who deserved mention: Basil Blass, Lucile and Sidney Lambert, George Melbourne, author of "Listen to the Mocking Bird," James Bland, who wrote "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," and Lord Koven, Thompson who wrote "Dear Lord, Remember Me."

"There are few negro singers of note," said the speaker, but he mentioned a tenor of some reputation, and Harry T. Burley, who has won fame of first rank among American singers.

The negro spirituals he considered beautiful, as an attempt to express suffering; but he said they could not be reproduced by the young negro or the white person.

Of painters, one negro has won a place of first rank, but there are several of minor importance. Henry O. Tanner won his fame in Europe, where the French government, French artists—in fact, all European artists recognized his gift—his art.

A negro woman has made a name in the sculpture of the terrible. Meta Fuller's "Medusa" and "A Boy Eating Out His Heart," are remarkable studies, according to the student of history.

His artistic ability the negro had, said the speaker, but whether or not it was a constant possession and one that really could become great remained to be proved. Ewart Hogan, Bob Cole, Bert Williams and Gilpin have furnished examples of this fact. Gilpin, indeed, in the role of Emperor Jones, is extraordinary in effect," said the professor.

In oratory, Fred Douglas and Booker Washington were mentioned.

Fred Douglas, the imaginative, was contrasted with Booker Washington, not so well equipped as to voice and imagination, but considerably greater in influence. Joseph C. Price, a speaker during the prohibition campaign of 1881-2, was still remembered in the county where he spoke, stated Dr. Jackson; people still spoke of John Jasper's sermon, "The Sun Do Move." Charles T. Walker invited the interested attention of Taft, who considered him an eloquent speaker, and regularly attended the church of colored preacher when in Aiken, South Carolina.

The historians among the negro race were not to be compared with the last American historians, but one deserves special mention, said Dr. Jackson. Brawley's work was mentioned as scholarly.

One brilliant journalist the speaker discussed. However, Dr. Jackson by no means agreed with Dubois in the examination of the thoughts of the journalist. Yet, the speaker of the "Soul of Black Folk" as artistic and as a true attempt to express what was in the darky's soul. Other writers mentioned were the dean of Harvard University and Charles W. Chestnut, a lawyer of Cleveland, Ohio.

"The great field of literature for the negro" declared Dr. Jackson "is poetry. Here one finds many profound thoughts—some crude, but rhythmic; and the temperaments. Greatness of all these writers is Paul Lawrence Dunbar.

Brawley, Claude Mackay, Brawley, J. M. Allen, a bollweaver of St. Louis, C. R. Dinckens, a writer of sonnets, all these deserved a word of mention. E. Smythe Jones, who walked to Harvard, and who was sent to jail as a vagabond, won his freedom when he told his story and showed some verses he had written. Some critics, said Dr. Jackson, considered Mackay greater than Dunbar, and his "Harlem Shadows" showed artistic temperament. James Weldon Johnson, mentioned before, was again recalled as a poet—a writer, artistic in temperament. But he produced, Brawley, too, he once again made use of, and quoted this negro writer, on the subject under discussion.

"We do not mean to say that the negro cannot rise to great distinction in any sphere other than the arts. We do mean to say, however, that every race has its peculiar genius, and that, so far as we can at present judge, the negro with all his manual labor, is destined to reach his greatest heights in the field of culture, of art and soul; but so far much of his talent has not soared above the stage of vaudeville. This is due most largely, of course, to economic instability. It is the call of patriotism, however, that America should realize that the negro has peculiar gifts which need all possible cultivation and which will some day add to the glory of the country. Already his music is recognized as the most distinctive that the United States has yet produced. The possibilities of the negro in literature and oratory, in sculpture and painting are illimitable."

In conclusion, the speaker merely left the theme to the consideration of his hearers, without an appeal of any kind.

Dr. Jackson was clear and incisive in tone, natural in expression and manner, and varied his subject with occasional flashes of satire or humor. His historical familiarity with his subject held the attention of his audience.

Mussolini Declines To Hold Conference

Italian Premier Shows Independence by Declining Parley With Curzon and Poincare.

TERRHET, Switzerland, Nov. 19.—Mussolini, Italy's fascist premier, this afternoon flatly refused the request of Premier Poincare and Lord Curzon, which has reached him here by telephone, to proceed to Lausanne and confer there with the French and British statesmen, and perform, at Poincare and Lord Curzon who had awaited from their special train at Lausanne, got aboard again and came to Terrhet. They dined with Mussolini at the Grand Hotel des Alpes, and after, over their coffee, discussed the premier's program for the near east conference.

Arrangements had been made to serve this entire dinner in Lord Curzon's hotel near Lausanne, where the American delegates are lodged. When the special train bearing M. Poincare arrived at Lausanne the ministers started for their quarters while their secretaries telephoned to Terrhet urging the Italian premier to come to Ouchy by automobile but Mussolini declined, replying that this was impossible.

This was Mussolini's first demonstration of Italian independence, and the French and British leaders bowed to it. The story also went around that Mussolini has disliked to travel in Switzerland since the day he was confined from that country. The ban of expulsion was officially lifted only the week before the fascist leader became premier.

Tonight's conference was aimed at securing unity of front, and it indicated that Italy insists upon complete equality with France and Great Britain. The "big three" dinner, so informal that some body labeled it "black shirt diplomacy." It was served in the simplest manner in the main dining room, and the hotel guests dining at nearby tables had a complete amount of the three statesmen, who, wearing dark suits, ate their meals leisurely.

Mussolini met Poincare and Curzon at the station and welcomed them cordially. He explained that he preferred not to go to Lausanne, a move which would have placed him in a position at a place not influenced by the conference atmosphere. He explained, however, to proceed to Lausanne on the ministerial special leaving at 10:45, and spend the night there and continue the conversations.

The first interview was said to have been entirely satisfactory. The three ministers are understood to have adopted a common resolution to treat all questions to be submitted in the conference on a basis of most cordial friendship and perfect allied equality.

Seek To Annul Dry Law Clauses Restricting Doctors

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Action was begun here yesterday in the United States District Court to annul the provisions of the prohibition law in so far as it restricts physicians to a limited amount of whiskey or other alcoholic beverages in the treatment of patients. In other words, physicians claim the right of full freedom in practice.

At the instance of Joseph S. Auerbach of the law firm of Davies, Auerbach and Cornell, representing Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, Dean Emeritus of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, subpoenas were issued by the clerk of the United States District Court requiring Edward C. Telloway, Acting Prohibition Director for New York; David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and William Hayward, United States Attorney, to appear before the court and show cause.

why the provisions of the laws enacted under the Eighteenth amendment in so far as they relate to physicians in the practice of medicine should not be judicially declared inoperative. The plaintiff represents a considerable body of eminent medical men in this city, and the intention is to carry the suit to the United States Supreme court as speedily as possible.

The action was not started as an outcome of the deliberations of the American Medical Association at its St. Louis meeting last May, when that body reversed itself by declaring that alcohol was a necessary therapeutic agent. In fact, the suit was decided upon some months previous to that meeting.

Form Protective Association. Determined to lift from the medical profession the restriction of the Volstead act, so far as it affects the practice of their art, 105 physicians and surgeons in this city banded themselves together for action. The body thus formed has been named the Association for the Protection of Constitutional Rights. Its officers are: Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, President; Dr. James F. McKernon, Vice President; Dr. Warren Coleman, Secretary, and Dr. Frederic E. Sondern, Treasurer. The following compose the Executive Committee: Dr. Nathan E. Brill, Dr. William K. Draper, Dr. Charles L. Dana, Dr. J. T. Gorton and Dr. J. Bentley Squier.

The association distinctly disclaims connection with any law organization or with any anti-prohibition movement. Indeed some of its members are ardent prohibitionists, but are opposed to government interference with their methods of practicing therapeutics. A subject they assert concerning which Congress knows nothing.

Under the Volstead law a physician may only prescribe a pint of whiskey or brandy for a patient every ten days. The physician claims the right to prescribe as much more in the same period as, in his judgment, his patient requires. The contention is that no one except a physician is a competent judge of what that requirement may be.

Christmas Seals Soon On Sale

The Virginia Tuberculosis Association is now arranging for the sale of Christmas Seals, and seals and posters are being sent out to representatives in the various communities. The majority of the counties are already lined up for active work.

The Christmas Seal which is familiar to almost everybody as a symbol of the fight against tuberculosis and other preventable diseases, is a radical departure from former designs. In addition to the conventional Christmas tree and the double barred cross, it shows the figure of a mother and child. Below the seal are the words "For Health." It is significant of the increased interest which is being taken in the problems of child health. Some three years ago the National Tuberculosis Association and the State associations adopted child welfare work as one of their primary functions. The "For Health" seal indicates the broadening scope of the activities of the State associations and their local public health associations. Experience has taught that the path towards the goal of preventing tuberculosis is the highway which leads to the prevention of all human suffering, namely the observance of normal health rules, the building up of resistance and formation of proper health habits in childhood.

The seal was drawn by T. M. Cleveland, a celebrated artist, and was approved by the 125 seal is the best and State officials with the advice of Richard S. Bach of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and Heyward Campbell, Art Director of the National Publications. The Metropolitan Museum has declared the 125 seal is the best ever produced in the 15 years' history of the National Tuberculosis Association.

The posters designed by Ernest Hamlin Baker and the Ethridge Association of Artists are also attractive. One will make an especially strong appeal, as it shows a beautiful child standing at a blackboard writing "The good they do depends on you." The sentiment evidently referring to the seals which decorate the Christmas packages lying at her feet.

Montague's Son Wins Medal For War Heroism

By GEORGE H. MANNING (Washington Correspondent of The Danville Bee.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.—Captain Robert L. Montague, U. S. Marine Corps, son of Representative Montague, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroic and gallant conduct in the Meuse-Argonne drive of November, 1918.

The citation awarded him states that while acting as first lieutenant, with the remnant of a platoon of 14 men, and under a withering German barrage, he captured two German machine gun nests which had been holding up the advance of an American battalion, together with 151 prisoners who he turned over to the American commander.

Captain Montague had previously been awarded the Navy Cross. Early in the war, while after he graduated from the University of Virginia, young Montague, then 26 years old, joined the Marines as a private and was sent to France. It was in two big offensives in addition to the one in which he distinguished himself. He gained rapid promotion while in France and emerged from the war with the rank of captain.

Hydrants Spout Fish For Mile in Chicago. CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Hydrants along Palmer street, eight miles from the lake, spouted fish for hours today. A school of small perch had been taken in at a water crib four miles out in the lake and had jammed up the plumbing in hundreds of homes. The Water Department opened all hydrants for a mile.

Perch floated everywhere. They came out faster than the water. Boys gathered them in baskets, some getting dozens of fat perch from six to eight inches long.

Mrs. H. C. Guertman, of Atlanta, will arrive in the city this afternoon and be the guest of Mrs. J. B. Guertman this week.

J. M. Carrington Is Buried At S. Boston

(Special to The Bee.)

SOUTH BOSTON, Va., Nov. 20.—Funeral services of J. M. Carrington, South Boston's first mayor, who died in Richmond Saturday, were conducted here at eleven o'clock today by Rev. E. W. Mellicamp of the Episcopal church and were largely attended. Interment was made here. Mr. Carrington, who was 75 years of age, went to Richmond for a serious operation about a week ago and died from the shock of the operation. He was well-known here and was widely related in the State of Virginia. His family being a prominent one.

Fifty years ago, Mr. Carrington owned a large circus which was widely known throughout the country. Considered in those days as one of the largest road shows, it toured the country several times. He was mayor of the town for eight years, being the first elected here. His widow, who is now Mrs. Fannie Tool, he left a daughter, Mrs. Minnie Addill of Dover.

School Principal Is Ordered Held For Grand Jury

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Nov. 20.—The preliminary hearing of the charge against J. William Taylor, former principal of the Albemarle high school of a statutory offense against a young pupil in the school, came up Saturday before Justice Claude R. Yardley, Justices J. E. Gibson and E. O. Getty sitting with him, and resulted in a decision by Justice Yardley that the accused be held for the December grand jury.

There was only a small attendance of spectators at the opening of proceedings, and apparently no excitement was aroused over the event. After disposing of some preliminary motions made by the prosecution to amend the warrant in some particulars, the court was cleared and all spectators excluded except friends of the parties, witnesses and court officials.

The commonwealth was represented by Attorney W. Eskridge Duke, acting for his father, Eskridge T. W. Duke, Jr., attorney for the commonwealth, who is sick, assisted by Messrs. Fife and Pitts, while the accused was represented by Messrs. George E. Walker and John S. Battle. The first amendment to the warrant was in regard to the age of the girl involved, the first draft having stated her age to be 14 years, eight months, on October 24th, the day it was sworn out, the change being to her age at 13 years, her birthday being September 22, 1908.

Another change was the striking out of the supposed date of the offense, the day of May, 1922, and leaving the allegation read within one year prior to the date of the warrant. Only three witnesses were called by the prosecution and none by the defense, Mr. Walker, who conducted the cross examination, contenting himself with sifting the statements made by the witnesses.

Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor, rector of the Episcopal church, will hold services next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at the Gilbert School on the Halifax road.

C. C. Watson, of Mount Cross, who has been in a serious condition for the past few weeks is showing slight improvement.

Grand Jury Gets Hall-Mills Case

Mott Says He Is not Confident of Securing Indictments—Three Women on Grand Jury.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 19.—Final preparations were completed for presenting to the Somerset county grand jury tomorrow the evidence gathered in the nine weeks since the alleged murder of the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills.

Special Prosecutor William A. Mott, who has remained silent as to the number and names of the witnesses who will be called in the presentation of the case, today issued a brief statement denying that he is confident of obtaining indictments.

"I was never confident," the prosecutor said. "The evidence, however, is such that the case is now up to the grand jury."

There are three women on the grand jury who will hear the story of the case as it has been built up by the prosecution. The number of witnesses who will appear is estimated authoritatively at 50.

Those ordered to appear at the opening session tomorrow are Raymond Schneider, who found the bodies of the minister and the choir singer, and who is now in the jail awaiting trial on a charge of perjury in connection with an alleged "confession;" Pearl Bahmer, who was with Schneider when the bodies were found; Mrs. Edward Stryker, from whose home Schneider telephoned the police to tell of the discovery, and Edward Garigan and James Curran, the two policemen who arrived first at the place of the murder.

Gov. Robertson's Strong Come-Back

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19.—Branding as "a dastardly and damnable" charges filed in district court at Okmulgee, Okla., last night against Gov. J. B. A. Robertson, alleging that he released a murder convict from the State penitentiary "to kill a county attorney of Okmulgee county," the chief executive today said he could not believe a public official would "stoop so low as to make such a charge."

The governor's statement was prompted by charges made last night by James Hepburn, county attorney. Mr. Hepburn asked a review of the charge of venire to Ada, Okla., granted the governor by the district judge, L. B. Wright on Friday in the case in which the State's chief executive is charged with having accepted a bribe to allow a defunct Okmulgee bank to continue in operation. District Judge Thomas A. Edwards of Cordell, at the direction of the State Supreme court, will hear the county attorney's petition here tomorrow.

"While the county attorney of Okmulgee county has been actuated throughout in the handling of the charges against me by the most vicious and bitter animosity and personal enmity that has ever characterized the course of a public official in this State," the governor said in his statement, "I can not believe that he has stooped so low as to use the privilege of a high office to make such a charge against me."

Governor Robertson said he had received nothing but press reports concerning the petition by the Okmulgee county attorney, and until the charges were actually placed before him he found them hard to believe.

"I hesitate to believe that such assertions and charges are embodied in the motion," said the governor in his statement. "If the motion contains an allegation that I paroled a prisoner to kill the county attorney of Okmulgee county it could have no effect upon the proceedings involving the transfer of the chair against me to the district court."

COTTON BOUGHT BY RUSSIAN CO.

DALLAS, Tex. Nov. 18. An order for 5,000 bales of cotton was placed with the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association by the State National Stores, Ltd., of Russia. It was announced today at the office of J. J. Semenov, American representative of the company.

The order will permit the Russians to resume production in textile mills after several years of idleness. Delivery at Petrograd is provided. The order amounts to approximately $6,000,000.

ASTIN-LESTER

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Franklin Street, Danville, Va., at 10 o'clock this morning when Miss Jessie M. Lester of Sumnerfield, N. C., became the bride of Lester Astin, a brother of Mrs. Motley, Rev. J. T. Allen performing the ceremony.

The parlor was beautifully decorated with holly, running cedar and white chrysanthemums. Just before the ceremony began, "Believe me if all those enduring young charms" was softly played.

The bride was charmingly dressed in a dark blue tulle suit with grey accessories and wore a corsage of white roses and carnations.

Only a few close friends of the bride and groom attended.

The couple will make Danville their home, where Mr. Astin holds a position with Crowell Auto Company.

YMCA

Y. M. C. A. ACTIVITIES

Classes in boxing is being organized at Brooke Temple, a popular Danville boy, as instructor. Mr. Temple is well qualified to teach this popular sport having been instructor at the college from which he graduated.

Boxing is a combination exercise and not only develops the body, but gives mental alertness and perfect physical co-ordination and a spirit of give and take. A man to be a boxer must be clean and give up boxing if he gives a man a great amount of self-confidence and to be a boxer a man does not have to be a bully. In actual contact with boxers you will find the largest percentage to be fine, clean gentlemanly fellows.

A small fee will be charged for a series of ten lessons to run for ten weeks, each Wednesday night starting at 8 o'clock. If you are interested, additional information can be secured from Physical Director Savage.

The Sunday school league players, juniors, intermediates and seniors are for the most part practicing faithfully for the season's opening on December 3.

The Y. M. C. A. representative team will be recruited mainly from the Senior Sunday School League. A fast-paced game was held on Thursday night. Coach Rustin is well pleased with the showing of those who participated and expects to have a championship team. Any players who care to try out for the team should report not later than Monday evening, November 20, at 8 o'clock. Practice will be on the Municipal Hall floor.

It is earnestly hoped that this popular recreational center will not be taken for other purposes as it would mean the curtailment of the program for the winter months of not only the Y. M. C. A., but would leave practically no place for the High School boys and girls basketball teams to put on their games. The Y. M. C. A. floor is too small for these games and is in constant use from three o'clock until midnight p. m. for the regular class activities and the Intermediate and Junior Sunday school leagues. The Y. M. C. A. has the use of the Municipal Hall floor two nights each week the Senior Sunday school basketball games, city volleyball games and the schedule of games for the "Y" representative team will be played on that floor and if not available a large part of these activities could not be put on.

REVIVAL AT STOKESLAND

The revival at Stokesland Methodist Church which has been going on each night this week with increasing interest, will be continued through next week and probably longer. The pastor, Rev. S. E. Jones is doing the preaching and the attendance this far has been very gratifying, the house being nearly filled several times during the week.

There will be two services at this church today Sunday school at 10 o'clock a. m., and preaching at 7:30 p. m., by the pastor.

WETS WILL CENTER FIGHT ON BEER

BY HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Four per cent beer.

Light wines of from 12 to 20 per cent, alcoholic content.

These are the demands now to be made of Congress by organized "wets" as a result of increased favor for modification proposals, the one thing the wets have closest to their hearts and thoughts, however, is—beer. It springs from a belief that the expectation and demand of the rank and file who marked wet ballots on November 7 was for beer.

Whether an effort will be made to obtain modification at the hands of the present Congress will be determined at a meeting of officials of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment late this month.

Some members believe it would be "good politics" to give the present Congress a chance to act on modification in the light of popular will as expressed at the congressional election. Others feel this would be unwise, as they doubt that defeated "dry" members will feel any more kindly toward the measure, however, much they might like an opportunity to drown their sorrows.

With the organization of the new Congress in March, however, the fight to overhaul and "liberalize" the prohibition enforcement act will get under way immediately.

The defeat of Andrew J. Volstead, father of the present enforcement act, is the object of single aid to the wet program. Although Volstead's successor is dry himself, Volstead's defeat removes him from the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee and puts in his place Congressman George S. Graham of Pennsylvania, a wet.

This means that in an oddsproof this means that instead of proposals for prohibition being buried in committee, the measures will be heard and reported to the House for action.

Gov. Edward J. Edwards, newly elected senator from New Jersey, is expected to jump into the forefront of the fight in the Senate. As an experienced aid and a counselor wise in senatorial maneuvering, Jim Reed of Missouri is counted on to be his chief assistant.

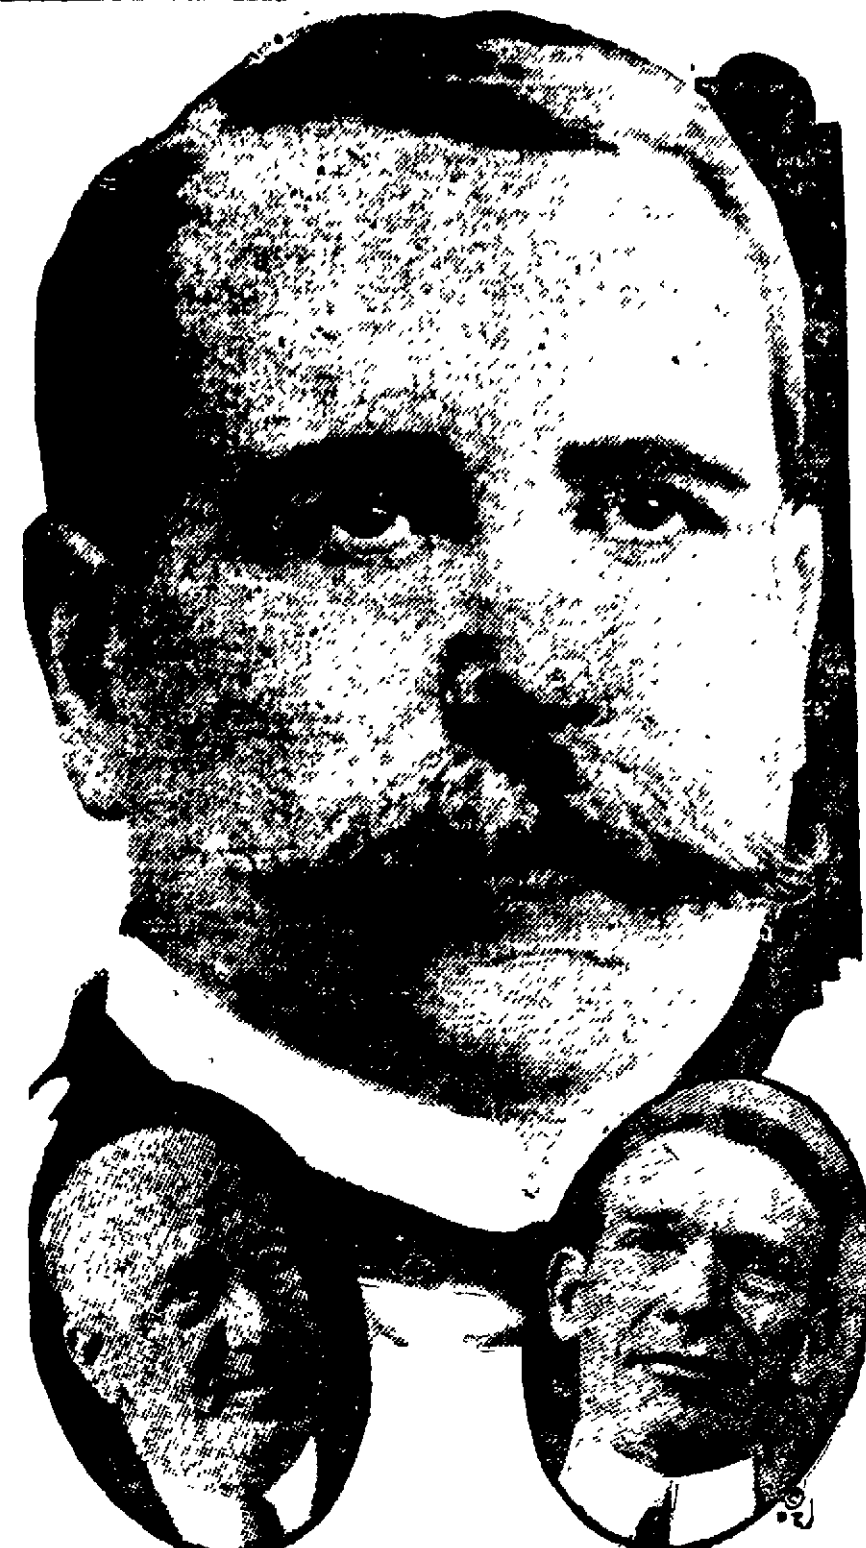

In the House Gallivan of Massachusetts, Hill of Maryland, Tinkham of Massachusetts, McCloud of Michigan and Sabath of Illinois are looked to as probable leaders.

"It doesn't really make any great difference whether the present Congress or the newly elected one passes a modification act," says G. V. Hunkley, head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, who has directed the association's congressional drive. "What we are out to get, of course, is the repeal of the whole prohibition proposition."

"The results in the congressional election show the way the popular wind is blowing. Congress ought to realize this. If there is a modification following the expression of the voters at this election, you may depend on it the voters will speak still more emphatically when they cast their votes two years from now—in 1924."

"Look out for a lot of fellows who have been on the fence to fall off on the wet side.

For years members of Congress in close districts have been terrorized by the Anti-Saloon League. They realized that unless they walked the dry chalk line the league could go into their districts and defeat them. There was no organization which could effectively combat the league in its drives to "get" congressmen in close districts.

CONGRESSMAN GEORGE S. GRAHAM, NEW HEAD OF HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE, WHICH MUST PASS ON DRY LAW MODIFICATION, AND INSET, CONGRESSMAN GALLIVAN (LEFT), AND SENATOR-ELECT EDWARDS WHO WILL LEAD THE WETS' FIGHT IN THEIR RESPECTIVE HOUSES.

As a result, these members have evaded votes whenever possible, or have reluctantly voted with the drys. That was demonstrated in the vote by which the Volstead act was passed.

over president Wilson's veto. Almost one-half the members in each house failed to vote. The bill was made law by the votes of an actual minority.

We believe however that this association has now demonstrated that it can fight the league in its own field. As a result, these hidden votes will now—in large part—come out in the open. With the avowed wets we believe there will be more than enough of these to modify the present prohibition act.

W. & J. Meets
In the Future

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—Washington and Jefferson's wonder eleven met its Waterloo today. Out-generaled, out-played and out-kicked by the University of Pittsburgh Panthers, Coach Neill's warriors—undefeated for nearly three seasons—lost a 19 to 0 struggle on a muddy gridiron to an eleven that had twice been conquered this fall.

A brute line and slow thinking by the W & J secondary defense and much to do with the unexpected result. The visitors, held two to one favorites, were swept off their feet in the first few minutes of play and with the exception of a spectacular forward pass early late in the second period, the Panthers usually were fighting within the shadow of their goal line.

The first half was rough but it was gentle play compared with the desperate tearing slugging football that marked the closing quarters. Fists flew often players disputed penalties and the officials were kept busy—preventing personal fouls. Experts who have been watching gridiron games in Pittsburgh for twenty years could not recall a more vivid battle.

The world gets better. A geologist claims ages ago England and Ireland were connected by land.

HOPPE DEFEATS
FRENCH CONTI

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—While Hoppe won a match filled with much indifference, coming with which he defeated Roger Conti, the Frenchman, by the score of 500 to 203 in the eleventh game of the international 152 ball line championship tournament at Hotel Pennsylvania tonight.

At all times Hoppe kept the ivories rolling freely and freely in fact, for good and true ball work. His runs were a medley of a ball, his of everything from a scratch to a fast, a very few, counts at nursing. Ever so, his runs were 122 and 86. The average was 75.10-14.

Conti had the misfortune to fall to get the balls of Conti's ball in one of his best runs. His showing was poor and he went into the discard by his defeat. Conti's average was 15.8-13 and his runs 75, 47 and 33.

The score.

Hoppe, White ball 3, 109, 0 24 0 51; 85 1 122, 15 37; 81, 0 10—Total 500.

Conti, spot ball 0, 33 1 0, 28 0 9, 0 47, 75, 0 0—total 203.

ALABAMA BESTED
BY KENTUCKY

LEXINGTON Ky., Nov. 18.—The University of Alabama was defeated today by the Wild Cats of the University of Kentucky 6 to 0 in the most bitterly fought gridiron battle in the history of Still Field. Kentucky's lone touchdown came in the third quarter and was the result of line plunge by Curtis Sanders a pass from Fuller to Hollowell and an end run by Fuller who failed to kick goal.

WE ARE JUST AS EAGER

To give Danville a first-rate Street Car system as any Councilman or any other citizen is to have us do so.

We would not ask to be allowed to use one-man cars during the non-rush hours if we did not believe they would be satisfactory to the great majority of our patrons.

Give us a chance to be the kind of Street Car Company that we want to be. We want your co-operation and confidence and we pledge our good faith not to abuse it but to use it to Danville's advantage.

The Cost of Telephone Service

Telephone service has become of such universal use as to justify it as one of the various items which go to make up the household's budget.

That its cost has not mounted to the extent of the other items is shown by the following comparison of per cent increases in costs throughout the United States since the year 1914, taken from the reports of the National Industrial Conference Board.

	Per Cent Over 1914	1920	1922
House Rents	58	65
Clothing	166	53
Fuel	66	81
Sundries	85	72
Food	119	40
Telephone Rates in Virginia	37	37

This table shows that in 1920, the period of highest prices, the increase in the cost of telephone service over 1914 was slightly more than a third of the average increase in the cost of the other items; and now, with prices largely stabilized, the increase is slightly more than one-half of the increase in the other items.

The usefulness of the telephone service to the patron in a city, town or community depends largely upon the number of persons with whom he may communicate; in other words, the value of telephone service increases as the number of telephones increases.

In some places in Virginia since 1914, the number of telephones has increased as high as 75%; in the entire state the increase has been 56%. In other words, the increase in the value of the telephone service to the user in Virginia has greatly exceeded the increase in our rates.

MILWAUKEE PLANT
TO COST $14,000,000
MILWAUKEE, Nov. 18.—Milwaukee city shortly have completed a new sewerage system at an approximate cost of $14-00,000, which is expected to be the best in the world. The cost of the intercepting system will be about 7,000,000, and the disposal plant, which $4,000,000 has been spent to date, will cost in the aggregate, 7,000,000.

The new system is of the activated sludge type which is common in Germany and England but which is used only in a fairly large city of the United States, it is said, that being Houston, Texas. The Milwaukee plant will, however, contain important improvements over those in Europe.
Though the new disposal plant cannot be completed and go into practical use before Jan. 1, 1924, engineers from many countries have come to the city to inspect the plans and the work to date. China and Japan have been represented by delegations and European engineers in large numbers have come here to observe the work.

BUILDING MATERIAL
NE W ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—The Lottex Company, which manufactures building board from bagasse, the fiber of sugar-cane after the juice is extracted, has found demand so great that they began today a million dollar program of plant expansion. The board manufactured is used in both inside and outside work.

WOOL
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—There have been large orders of foreign wool in this port in recent weeks and government officials in the custom-house department are credited with work today assessing duties on these shipments.

Maybe!

Senator John R. Cook is appointed to take the place of Accotist Justice Day of the U. S. Supreme Court, and if this appointment is made before January 1, THEN—Guy B. Smith (Shon-don), newspaper publisher of Johnson City, Tenn., a Republican, will be elected to Washington to succeed Hielda, according to a statement made by Governor Alf A. Taylor, also Republican.
Otherwise, inauguration of a new-elected Democratic governor will postpone the plans.

NEW BUILDING PROJECTS
IN CHICAGO REACH 50 MILLION
CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—New building projects in Chicago today are estimated at $50,000,000. These include one big new hotel within the Loop district. Construction work promises to continue throughout the winter, although there is a feeling in some circles that a renewal of the labor difficulties next June may tie up building.

NEW STRUCTURE FOR DETROIT
DETROIT, Nov. 18.—Construction will begin early in December on a new 21-story hotel and theatre building here which will cost $12,000,000.

FALSE HAIR IN DEMAND BOB LOSES POPULARITY

By MARIAN HALL
(Special Correspondent of The Bee.)
Some time has come down, according to statistics and market reports, but one commodity has gone sky high within the last few months—false hair.

And the most overworked class today are those employed in the transformation and switch business.

All because the bobbed girls simply won't wait for their hair to grow out.

"They are resorting to all sorts of artifices to give the appearance of a luxuriant crop of hair," says A. Simonsen, the New York hairdresser. "The rush for made-to-order coiffure is amazing."

"To make a transformation of the average length, at least 12 percent of the hair must be cut off," says A. Simonsen. "The rush for made-to-order coiffure is amazing."

"The fastest wig-maker cannot complete one of the more elaborate transformations in less than 14 days. Each hair has to be knotted into the frame by hand. Matching the natural hair of those who want a temporary addition is an art in itself. It requires blending of front four to five different shades. Red and mouse-colored hair are the most popular."

"Keeping the new false locks tethered is no small problem. It is calling forth a bewildering array of combs and elaborate nets for the coming season.

"It would indeed be a tragedy to have one's coiffure drop off in the middle of a dance or be sent skyward in a severe wind. So combs that assure the safety of the false masses, and bonnets which have a restraining influence, are greatly favored.

Europe to Rescue.

"Czechoslovakia is lending a helping hand in meeting the problem. From that picturesque middle European country have come the coarse woven gold and silver colored nets which enable the bobbed-haired girl to achieve the effect of long hair without a switch, provided she is clever about curling her hair."

These nets are made in varying styles, ranging from those which entirely envelop the coiffure to dainty little semi-nets which are worn simply to hold the back knot in place. Pleasant women have worn these for centuries to keep their hair from falling down as they bend over their work.

Many girls are curling their short locks, brushing them up and winding a long switch tightly about the neckline to get the effect of a high coiffure.

"There is no doubt about it—bobbed hair as a fad is doomed," Simonsen continued. "Despite the protestations of the devotees of this comfortable style short hair will soon be as rare as high-laced shoes."

Engineers Meet In New York Dec. 4

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, biggest of national engineering assemblages this year, opens its sessions December 4th, in the Engineering Societies' Building in this city. The concluding session will be held Dec. 17. One of the most important features of the annual meeting will be the succession to the presidency of the society of John L. Harrington, of Kansas City. He will succeed Dean Dexter S. Kimball, of Cornell.

Another feature which will attract engineers, manufacturers, economists, educators and industrialists from all over the country will be joint sessions with the American Economic Association, the American Society of Safety Engineers, the American Society of Refrigerating Engineers, and the American Engineering Standards Committee.

L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad Company, and E. M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, will be among the speakers at the economic forum, at which addresses also will be delivered by Dr. W. C. Mitchell, of the National Bureau of Economic Research, and Professor of Economics at Columbia University; Professor H. R. Seager, of Columbia, president of the American Economic Association, and Dean Kimball. Mr. Herr's topic will be "The Human Problem in Industry."

Professor Mitchell will discuss "Making Money and Making Good." The sessions of the professional divisions of the society will cover a wide range of industrial and technical progress, including development in aeronautics, civil engineering, electrical engineering, the aeronautics division. Other professional divisions to meet include those devoted to fuel, management, forest products, ordnance, railroads, textiles, gas power, machine shop practice and material handling. The ordnance division is working with the army authorities to produce better ordnance and eliminate the evils revealed by the war.

Education, described as a question of increasing interest in the engineering profession, will be one of the big features of the meeting, to which representatives from practically all the leading universities and technical schools will come. Notable among the reports to be presented will be that by the Committee on Training for the Industries, covering recent advances in correspondence work in extension schools, industrial training schools and training in the works.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers maintains branches in 62 colleges and technical schools, and in connection with the meeting a session planned and directed by students themselves will be held. Branch will be a principal topic, and several papers dealing with its progress will be read. Local, state and branches of the society from 34 industrial centers will send delegates to the meeting. Activities of the professional divisions represent 1,870 members in a special programme. In all, 1,000 women are taking an active part in being arranged.

Other features of the meeting will be a public hearing on the society's boiler code, which has formed the basis for laws in 18 States; a public hearing on the Poor Test Code; local sections conferences, presidential address and reception, and a business meeting of the society's Council on Monday, December 4.

THIRD PARTY MOVE

GAINS MOMENTUM
BY LIBERALS' CALL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Legislative developments prior to the convening of the special session of Congress next Monday disclosed two distinct movements, each fraught with danger to the Administration's policies. These developments, outcomes of the recent repudiation of Congress at the polls, are:

First, a coalition of Progressives, headed by William E. Borah (R), Senator from Idaho, threatening to block the passage of the SNA subsidy bill in the Senate during the approaching special and the short regular session. For the Republican party to force its enactment, Senator Borah warned, would be an invitation to a second political disaster.

Second, plans of the leaders of the two wings of the Progressive faction and out of Congress to hold a conference at an early date for formulating a broad program of "liberal" legislation. Back of this proposal is the impetus of a third party movement, now being put out as a feeler and more pointedly as a warning to each of the old parties to "spread its wings."

If the recommendations of this faction, which holds the balance of power in the new Congress, are ignored by either of the old parties and more particularly by the Republican Administration, the possibility of a real third party, embracing the great mass of discontented and forward-looking voters, will become a factor which will have to be reckoned with before 1924.

DIES IN RICHMOND

RICHMOND, Nov. 18.—J. M. Carrington, of South Boston, died here today, aged seventy-five years. Fifty years ago he was owner of a circus, known as Carrington's Circus, and travelled over the country for some time. He was former mayor of his town and leaves a wife and several children.

A long distance telephone report from South Boston last night gave further information on the death of Mr. Carrington, who was 75 years old at the time of his death. Until about six years ago he was for many years mayor of South Boston and was considered an influential and prosperous citizen. Besides his wife, who was Miss Fannie Todd, deceased, he was survived by one daughter, Mrs. Minnie Wad-dill, of Clifton. Mr. Carrington had been in the Richmond hospital but a few days having been taken there for an operation for a complication of diseases.

NO CHANCE

LONDON, Nov. 18.—"It's not true that my husband drinks. I put him to bed every night at nine o'clock," testified Margaret Wildsmith in the Marylebone Court.

OPPONENTS OF BOND ISSUE HAVE PROGRAM

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 18.—The program of the opponents of the bond issue have been formulated in case of an extra session of the legislature, as follows: Reduction of the salary of the State Highway Commissioner from $12,000 to $8,000, increase of taxes on notes, stock, and other evidence of debt to eighty-five cents for state purposes (reduced last winter to ten cents) and a tax of three cents a gallon on gasoline of which one-third is to go to the counties, the cities to receive nothing. This will, it is believed, serve to arouse much antagonism to the agitation to have a special session of the legislature.

PROVIDENCE BEATS SERVER OF WARRANT

WHEELING, Nov. 18.—The most unusual return ever made upon a warrant by a United States deputy marshal here has just been filed with local Federal Court officials in a Volstead law case, and follows: "This warrant is returned out against the reason that the within named defendant was found not guilty by the Good Lord on August 19, 1922. Gone to the Good Lord who turned wine into wine. (Signed) 'JOHN M. SHORT, U. S. Deputy Marshal.'"

PRESIDENT ASKED TO ENTER LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Women's League Council has urged upon President Harding a reconsideration of the question of American participation in European affairs through membership in the League of Nations. The council, which is made up of a group of prominent women for the purpose of advancing the cause of the League, made public a letter written to the President in which the President is called upon, as leader of the Republican Party, to move the League question forward. The letter was described in a statement from the council's headquarters as a response to President Harding's appeal to the American people for a solemn Armistice Day meditation on our international duties.

"It seems to us," said the letter, "that there is nothing more serious and difficult about the situation, except whatever difficulty has been resident in our State. We have your pre-election utterances in favor of entering the League of Nations with modifications, and your later pre-election utterances strongly advising our participation in an 'association of nations.' We have the proclamation of the 'Thirty-one Pro-League Republicans' calling upon the people of this country to vote for you as the sure way of getting into the League of Nations."
